Dinner at A Voce with Chateau Angelus and Owner Hubert de Boüard de Laforest

On Wednesday, March 14, 2012, at 6:30 PM, please join Event Chair Alan Frishman for a unique Chateaux sponsored dinner at the highly acclaimed midtown restaurant A Voce, located in the Time Warner Center directly overlooking Columbus Circle and Central Park.

Joining us from France is Hubert de Boüard de Laforest, owner, manager, and highly regarded ambassador for Château Angélu. Angélu remains a top property of St. Emilion, located on the Right Bank of Bordeaux. The estate has been owned by the Boüard de Laforest family since the Domaine de Mazaret was bequeathed to Comte Maurice de Boüard de Laforest in 1909, and expanded by the acquisition of Clos de L'Angélu in 1926 and a plot from Château Beau-Séjour Bécot in 1969. The name refers to the three Angelus bells audible from the vineyards, coming from the chapel at Mazerat, the church in Saint-Martin de Mazeret and Saint-Émilion, as only from the Château are all three bells visible at once.

Monsieur de Boüard joined the family business at Angélu in 1976. He will present to us five special wines from his library: Angélu 2006, Angélu 2003, Angélu 1998, Angélu 1993 en magnum, and special cuvee Fleur de Boüard 2008.

These marvelous wines will be paired with courses selected and prepared for affinity by Executive Chef Missy Robbins, recipient of critical acclaim for creating classic European specialties with a contemporary twist, executed with subtle flair and an innate elegance. Her refreshing, graceful and refined approach will perfectly match the fabled wines of Angélu. We would like to thank the de Boüard family for their generosity.

Seating is limited and the event is likely to quickly sell out. Please make your reservations early at www.wfsny.org for what promises to be a most memorable evening.

We hope to see you at A Voce.

Sincerely,

Greg Hurst
